NUMBER 34

FAVOR THE JESUITS
AS LO'S TEACHERSSENATOR VEST SPEAKS OF INDIAN SCHOOLS.

He Then Claims the Only Successful Institution of Learning on the Reservations Are Those Conducted by the Jesuits—Tariff Arguments Listened to.

Washington, April 16.—The senate spent Thursday considering the Indian appropriation bill, but did not complete it. Early in the session the proceedings were made executive, and when the doors were again opened to the public the Indian bill came up.

The pending question was on the committee amendment opening the Uncompagnie Indian reservation in Utah to public entry.

Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, withdrew the point of order he had made, and on a yeas and noes vote the amendment was agreed to—33 to 13.

Mr. Quay's amendment striking out the ratification of the oil grants was accepted.

On motion of Mr. Gallinger the provision as to children of a white father and Indian mother was modified so as to give these children tribal rights on the consent of majority of the tribe and the consent of the secretary of the interior.

Mr. Vest, of Missouri, spoke in criticism of the provision of the bill abolishing sectarian Indian schools. He was, he said, brought up a protestant, and had no connection with the Roman Catholic church, but he had no sympathy with that cowardly and ignorant sentiment that any religious denomination could menace our liberties. He had traveled through the Indian country, visiting the schools, and had found them a travesty on education, except when conducted by the Jesuits. Broadkendown preachers and defunct politicians were sent out to the western country to teach the Indian children. He had found, he said, that the only Indian schools accomplishing any good were those conducted by the Jesuits.

"If I had control of these schools," proceeded Mr. Vest, "I would give them to those who have studied the Indians; those who have taken the young Indians from the tepee, segregated them from their fathers and mothers and taught them the religion of Christ, even if the cross is the emblem of their religion. I would infinitely rather see them Catholics than savages. I do not belong to that sect who would rather see an Indian damned than to see him in the Catholic church."

Mr. Vest said he would make no effort to oppose the provisions of the bill, but would content himself with this protest. The Indian bill was not completed when, at 5 o'clock, the senate adjourned to Monday.

SUGGESTIONS ON TARIFF.

Members of the Senate Sub-Committee Hold an All-Day Session.

Washington, April 16.—The republican subcommittee of the Senate committee on finance held an all-day session at the capitol Thursday to afford an opportunity to other senators to make suggestions on the tariff bill. Senator Quay had a brief conference, and devoted himself especially to the rates on carpets and matting, upon which he urged a rate of duty which would insure protection to the industries of this country against the products of China and Japan.

Senator Sewell suggested modifications of the chemical, silk, pottery, paper and watch schedules.

Senators Baker and Harris asked for a duty of $2 a ton on gypsum and for a decrease of the duty proposed on Mexican cattle.

Senators Elkins and Wellington both appeared in support of the Dingley rate on coal, which there is an effort to have reduced.

During the day a number of republican senators from the inter-mountain states met to agree upon a plan of cooperation. They reached no definite conclusion, except to stand together in their demands on wool, hides, cattle, lead ore and other rocky mountain products.

To Investigate Civil Service.

Washington, April 16.—The senate committee on civil service has decided to enter upon a thorough investigation of the extent to which the civil service law is enforced and the effect of its enforcement in promoting the public welfare. Circulars are to be sent to the various heads of departments, asking for information as to the workings of the law.

Callers at the White House.

Washington, April 16.—There was a very large crowd of callers at the white house Thursday. Senator Hanna of Ohio and Senator Proctor of Vermont called early, and were in consultation with the president for some time. The visit of Messrs. Hanna and Proctor evidently was one more than ordinary importance, but both senators declined to make any statement.

President Can Not Attend.

Washington, April 16.—President McKinley has decided that he will be unable to attend the Nashville exposition on the opening day, May 1, but will formally notify the authorities that he will visit the exposition after

CALL REBELLION CIVIL WAR

How Our State Department Views the Cuban Insurrection.

New York, April 16.—A dispatch to a local paper from Washington says that the policy of the administration in reference to Cuba is not likely to be criticised, as was that of its predecessor, on the score of indifference to American citizens.

Secretary Sherman will see to it that imprisonment of suspects entitled to the protection of the United States for an indefinite period of time is no longer indulged in by Spanish officials in Cuba. He will even go further and make it plain to the Spanish authorities that they can not in the closing decade of the nineteenth century be permitted to carry on war upon principles utterly at variance with modern civilization.

In short, notice has been served on the Spanish government—informally, as yet, but still in unmistakable terms—that this government recognizes a state of civil war on the island of Cuba which demands a treatment of prisoners taken in action by either side somewhat different from that which seems to have been awarded to them thus far.

FIRE AT NEW ORLEANS

The Celebrated Moresque Building and All Its Contents Were Destroyed Yesterday.

New Orleans, La., April 16.—Fire broke out in the furniture store of Montgomery & Co., corner of Camp and Poydras streets, at 1 o'clock Thursday. This was in the celebrated Moresque building, constructed of iron and the most perfect specimen of Moorish architecture in America. One-half of the building was occupied by Montgomery & Co. as a furniture store, and the other by Gauche & Sons, queensware and furnishing goods. Before the engines arrived the building was in flames from foundation to roof. The fire crossed the street and burned out the German Gazette and Telegram, newspapers, and other properties adjoining. The loss is said to be $500,000, but this is probably an exaggerated estimate.

EDHEM PASHA WOULD FIGHT

Turkish Commander Wants to March Against the Greeks.

Constantinople, April 16.—For three days past the ministerial council has been in session at the Yildiz kiosk. According to a report the council has agreed upon a plan of campaign in the event of an outbreak of hostilities between Greece and Turkey, and that the ministers also decided that if a fresh frontier incident occurs Edhem Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, is to assume the offensive.

Edhem Pasha has telegraphed to the Turkish authorities here that unless he is ordered to cross the frontier and take up a position on the plains of Thessaly his present position is untenable, owing to the constant attacks of the Greek insurgents, who have entered the Turkish lines by stealth, and also in consequence of the excitement among the troops, especially the Albanians.

The Turkish ministers, it is further announced, have informed the sultan that war should be declared against Greece. The sultan has not yet replied to this recommendation of his ministers.

Advices received here from Salonica say that the authorities are arming the Bashi Bazouks there and at Janina, in Albania.

In the meanwhile negotiations continue with the representatives of the powers here to determine the basis of Cretan autonomy.

Spaniards Insult Our Flag.

New York, April 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Sagua La Grande, via Key West, says: "News has reached here of an outrage perpetrated near the town of Encrucijada by Spanish troops, who destroyed the property owned by the wife of the British vice-consul, Mr. Harris of Sagua, and tore up an American flag, which the manager of the estate, George Harris, who is an American citizen, had draped over his bed. The matter was reported to Mr. Harris on his return, and he promptly laid it before the British and American consular representatives in Sagua, who will cause a thorough investigation."

Two Hundred Thousand Starving.

Havana, April 16.—Over two hundred thousand people cooped up in the cities in Cuba are staring starvation in the face. Of this number at least 3,000 are American citizens who were engaged in peaceful pursuits in the interior. Weyler's orders to concentrate the rural population in small towns is the cause of all this misery. The people have no money to buy food or pay rent and live in bark houses in the alleys, where they slowly starve to death.

To Exterminate Hog Cholera.

Washington, April 16.—The agricultural department has taken steps looking to the extermination of hog cholera, and as an initiative has sought the co-operation of the states of Tennessee and Iowa in an experiment to determine how economically the malady, which is devastating swine interests, can be stamped out. If these states do not agree to co-operate others will be asked so that a satisfactory experiment can be made.

Washington, April 16.—President McKinley has decided that he will be unable to attend the Nashville exposition on the opening day, May 1, but will formally notify the authorities that he will visit the exposition after

BIG PART OF CITY IS NOW LAID BARE

FLOODS DO GREAT DAMAGE AT OMAHA.

The Torrent Pouring from the Missouri Drive Families From Their Homes—Flood Seeks Out Weak Points of Louisiana Levees—People Need Help In Many Places.

Omaha, Neb., April 16.—All day Thursday torrents from the raging Missouri poured across the North Omaha gardens and rolled over what were fields and dooryards. The flood is flowing into Florence and Cut-Off lakes. The former has lost its identity, and the latter may soon. It is seven feet higher than it was Tuesday, and is surely cutting away the dikes that hold it back from the Missouri. A rise of three inches in the river and a strong wind may turn the flood loose on the permanent embankments that hold back Cut-Off lake, and then disaster will come. Twenty more families have been driven from their homes in East Omaha. These houses stood on what was considered high ground, but are now surrounded. The Burlington road has protected its tracks against further damage, and the Union Pacific is doing similar work.

IS STILL RISING.

MISSISSIPPI MAY FIND WEAK SPOTS IN LOUISIANA LEVEES.

Memphis, Tenn., April 16.—While the condition of affairs in the overflowed Mississippi delta is reported brighter, the situation between Vicksburg and New Orleans is causing the greatest apprehension. The river continues to rise in the Louisiana levee district, and weak spots in the levee are being strengthened and watched day and night. Statistics of the number of flood sufferers in Bolivar county have been compiled by a committee appointed to look after the distribution of the government provisions. They show 22,000 people who are now or soon will have to be fed by charity, in addition to 3,000 head of live stock.

RELIEF WANTED FOR 60,000.

Washington, April 16.—The following dispatch was received by the war department Thursday from one of the army officers detailed to distribute supplies:

"Vicksburg, Miss., April 15.—Over nine-tenths of Washington, Issaquena, Sharkey, Sunflower, and considerable of Yazoo and Warren counties overflowed. Estimate 60,000 persons need food; stock also suffering severely in eastern half of this territory, where distress is becoming acute. Can only be reached by boat up Yazoo and Sunflower rivers from Vicksburg."

NO RELIEF AT DAVENPORT.

Davenport, Iowa, April 16.—The waters of the Mississippi were brought to within six inches of the danger line by Thursday's rise of seven inches, and as rains and cloudy weather continue, the flood's crest seems as far off as ever.

The rising waters have compelled the vacating of cellars in the jobbing district near the river front, and the levee is almost entirely under water. At Moline fears are felt that the flood will overflow the tall race and threaten heavy manufacturing interest.

DROWNED AT QUINCY, III.

Quincy, Ill., April 16.—The Mississippi flood is rising again at this point, and the water advanced over three inches Thursday. The stage is fourteen feet eight and one-half inches. Julius Brendjens and J. Baker attempted to cross the river in a skiff, and when within half a mile from shore the boat was capsized by a big wave. Brendjens was swept down by the swift current and drowned, but Baker was rescued.

HUNTER NEVER WILL WITHDRAW.

Frankfort, Ky., April 16.—Dr. Hunter's friends declare emphatically that their candidate has no idea of ever withdrawing from the senatorial contest. They add that he might do so if requested or suggested by the administration, but they have the best of reasons for believing no such action will be taken. The grand jury adjourned again last night without making any report on the attempted bribery charges. Three ballots were taken during the legislative session.

Hunter got fifty-eight votes in the first and fifty-seven on each of the others. This left the nominee still two short of election.

AMERICAN MULT LAW REPORTED.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 16.—The manufacturing amendment to the mult law which passed the senate Wednesday was considered by the house committee on suppression of intemperance Thursday afternoon and agreed upon by a narrow majority of one vote. The bill will come up for discussion on the floor of the house next Wednesday.

ECONOMY IN THE NAVY.

Washington, April 16.—Secretary of the Navy Long has adopted a policy of economy in the navy. Hereafter all ships that come home from foreign service are to be repaired and laid up in ordinary. Vessels on the home station, which are most expensive when kept in commission, will also be laid up. This will not include battle ships. Secretary Long believes that this policy will materially lessen the expense of maintaining the navy.

SPAINISH INSULT OUR FLAG.

NEW YORK, APRIL 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Sagua La Grande, via Key West, says: "News has reached here of an outrage perpetrated near the town of Encrucijada by Spanish troops, who destroyed the property owned by the wife of the British vice-consul, Mr. Harris of Sagua, and tore up an American flag, which the manager of the estate, George Harris, who is an American citizen, had draped over his bed. The matter was reported to Mr. Harris on his return, and he promptly laid it before the British and American consular representatives in Sagua, who will cause a thorough investigation."

PASS BILL KILLED BY THE SENATORS

HALL AMENDMENT DIES WITHOUT DEBATE.

Adopt the Joint Resolution Calling For a Constitutional Convention and Recommend That All Pending Amendments Be Killed For That Reason.

MADISON, WIS., April 16.—[Special]—Assemblyman Hall's anti-free pass amendment to the state constitution was killed by the senate this morning without debate. The senate also adopted a joint resolution calling for a constitutional convention to revise the constitution. Together with the resolution for a constitutional convention, the committee also reported the several amendments to the constitution now pending for killing, with the idea that the convention shall consider all of them.

The assembly passed the bill requiring all plumbbers to pass an examination, after a short debate.

The McGrath bill providing for the erection of a state reformatory for youthful criminals, caused a prolonged debate in the assembly at the close of which the measure passed by an eye and nose vote.

COMPANY FIGHTS THE LAW.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 16.—The Citizens' Street Railroad Company refused to obey the 3-cent fare law, which went into effect Thursday morning.

When the company learned the law was in force, Superintendent Elliott instructed conductors to refuse to receive 3-cent fares and to reject any passenger who refused to pay 5 cents, the usual fare. Patrons of the company almost invariably tendered 3 cents. When informed that the company would not accept that amount many paid 5 cents, but many citizens were indignant that the company should defy the law of the state, and refused to pay the fare demanded, whereupon they were ejected from the cars. Every time there was an incident of this kind large crowds would collect, and the authorities are surprised that there was not a serious conflict between citizens and employees of the company during the day. The matter is now in the courts.

REPRESENTATIVE HOLMAN IS BETTER.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Representative Holman of Indiana, who has been ill with an attack of stomach trouble for the last ten days, is reported better. He is still weak, but is able to again take solid food. There is nothing alarming in his condition, though it will be some days before he can resume his duties at the capitol.

PITTSBURG, PA., April 16.—While taking a blast at the Republic iron works the molten metal boiled over into a pit of water, causing an explosion. Five men were badly burned: Dennis Mahoney, recovery doubtful; James Reilly, recovery doubtful; Martin Kinski, Stanley Persovas, John Morton.

AVON LEVEE MAY BREAK.

GREENVILLE, MISS., April 16.—It was reported Thursday morning that the levee at Mound Lake, sixteen miles north, on the Mississippi side, had broken, but investigation showed the report without foundation. At Avon, fifteen miles south, the levee is in a dangerous condition, and a private message received here states that it might break at any moment.

Voorhees of Spokane, Wash., they have lain in state in the parlors of the Terre Haute House.

In the afternoon all places of business in the central part of the city were closed and the public and private schools were dismissed. Senator Voorhees was a Mason, and the various Masonic lodges participated in the funeral exercises, while the city council and many civic and military organizations followed his remains to the grave in Highland Lawn Cemetery.

Early in March the Senior class of Milton college, closed a contract with the Sherwood Concert Troupe of Cincinnati, to furnish vocal and instrumental music at the Senior concert on the evening of Commencement day, in June, and two numbers at the graduation exercises in the forenoon. The class have since proceeded to complete other necessary arrangements in accordance with this contract, which had no stated or implied withdrawal by either party. Five days since the class were greatly surprised to receive word from this troupe that they had made an engagement to appear at the Chautauqua Assembly, N. Y., on the same day of the Commencement of the college, that they had cancelled their contract with the class, and that they would send a string quartette in their place. The Seniors at once replied that they could not consent to dissolve the contract, that the substitution would not be satisfactory and requested that they be compensated, in case the troupe persisted in refusing to come, for their extra labor and expense in securing another company, if one suitable could now be found. In response the "Sherwoods" write, "consider the contract recalled" and refuse flatly to compensate the class.

Wrecked and Racked

By the pangs of rheumatism, the joints eventually become grievously distorted, and sometimes assume an almost grotesque deformity. To prevent such results by a simple and agreeable means is certainly the part of wisdom. A tendency to rheumatic ailments may be successfully combated with Postetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine of the highest quality and medicinal career, of unbounded popularity, and removes from the blood those inflammatory impurities which pathologists assign as the cause of rheumatism, and not only purifies the life current, but enriches it, promoting vigor by fertilizing its source.

Digestion is aided by it, and the secretion of urine is aided by it, and it impels the kidneys and bladder to a regular and active performance of their functions. It is besides a thoroughly reliable remedy for, and means of preventing, periodic fevers.

MR. WHEELER'S BILL PASSED YESTERDAY

STATE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY IS FAVORED.

Plan to Show Up the Resources of Wisconsin Goes Through By a Large Majority—Bill Creating a Board of Fire and Police Commissioners Concurred By Senate.

Assemblyman Wheeler's bill for a natural history investigation of Wisconsin's resources and for a geological survey of the state was passed by a vote of 65 to 14 in the assembly yesterday. The object of this bill is to show the natural advantages of Wisconsin to the world and the measure has been warmly commended by both press and people.

As Janesville is a "city of the third class" local people are much interested in Mr. Welton's bill to provide for boards of fire and police commissioners in cities of the second and third class, and which was finally passed under suspension of the rules yesterday. The bill was drawn up by the Chiefs of Police of the state, at the meeting held two years ago at La Crosse. Yesterday, Mr. Barnum opposed the bill. He assailed the civil service system, and said that every move in that direction was a move to reinstate the king; it was a move toward absolutism, and it fastened upon the necks of the people the chronic officeholders.

Mr. Casius offered an amendment to the bill to except from its provisions the cities of Stevens Point, Madison and Wausau. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 38 to 10. Messrs. Buckstaff, Bay and Tucker made short speeches in favor of the bill. On motion of the latter the rules were suspended by a vote of 5 to 17, the following voting in the negative, Barnum, Bechtel, Bullard, Burnham, Cashin, Edward, Frink, Froehlich, Gwin, Lange, Maerz, Minch, Plummer, Polachek, Sweeting, Thompson and Wippeman. The bill was then concurred in by a vote of 40 to 16.

Bills introduced by Rock county members were disposed of as follows:

Passed:

No. 3904. Mr. Wheeler—For an investigation of the natural resources of the state.

No. 3844. Mr. Wheeler—Relating to water power.

Concurred in:

No. 1738. Mr. Whitehead—Relating to highways and bridges.

Killed:

No. 4164. Mr. Flagg—To prevent combinations between fire insurance companies.

No. 3914. Mr. Wheeler—Relating to abstracts of title.

ROCK COUNTY BULL CHOSEN

One of H. C. Taylor's Jerseys Will Head the Iowa Herd

Rock county gains credit from the fact that a Rock county animal has been selected to head the Jersey herd at the Iowa Agricultural College. Prof. C. F. Curtiss looked through herds east and west and at last found what suited him in the herd of H. O. Taylor, Orfordville. The Breeders' Gazette says:

"The bull's name is Spree 31698 and he has for sire the handsome Combination bull Chromo, that was in service in the Jersey test barn at the Columbian then at Billing's Farm, and now has a home at the Hood farm. It may be said that nineteen out of the twenty-five cows in tests No. 2 and 3 were bred to Chromo. He is a son of Diplomo by Combination and is dam is Broadway, 18 lbs. 10 oz., and three times first at the Iowa State Fair.

She unites the blood of Stoke Pogis 3d, Victor Hugo and Signal. The dam of Spree is Spark 67680, that has made 20 pounds three ounces of butter in seven days, and is the dam of Sparta, that has a record of twenty-one pounds five ounces. She carries the blood of Rioter 2d (sire of Eutorts) along with that of Mercury and Combination through her sire, John Rioter, which is a grandson of Combination through his dam. Through her dam Daretta, seventeen pounds eight ounces, Spark acquires the blood of Upright, the sire of Costa Rica that produced Merry Maiden, the Columbian champion over all breeds. Indeed, Daretta is full sister to Costa Rica, whose test of 51 lbs. 6 1/2 oz. is reported in this issue from Hood Farm. It thus appears that Spree is by the bull that was a great favorite in the Jersey barn at the Columbian and his grandam is full sister to the cow that produced the champion of the test. Evidently Prof. Curtiss has not searched in vain for a sire for the college herd.

CAUGHT THE WHALE.

Three Hours of Hard Fighting Brought Victory to the Fishermen.

"There she blows!" That was the cry heard through Amagansett, L. I., a few mornings ago. The signal flag of red was run up and was quickly responded to by the crews belonging to the whaling boats along the shore between East Hampton and Amagansett, says the New York Journal. Late whales have appeared in this vicinity, and numerous attempts have been made to catch one, but without success. Two were again sighted that morning opposite Amagansett and five boats were soon in hot pursuit. The whales were about one and a half miles off shore. After an exciting chase until noon one of the captains got close enough to the largest whale to harpoon him. He was opposite Napeague life-saving station when struck and the men soon had three lines attached to him. Then began an exciting battle between the men and the sea monster. Time and again the whale attempted to carry the men out on the ocean, and repeatedly the whalers would stab him with the harpoon. It was dangerous sport, and to the onlookers from the beach it seemed as though the boats would be wrecked every time the whale rose to the surface. He made savage lunges with his tail, lashing the water to a foam and spouting to a great height. After three hours' hard fighting the whale showed signs of weakening and began to spout blood in the air. At 4:30 o'clock the crew succeeded in landing the whale on the beach. He measured forty-five feet and will probably make forty barrels of oil. The captors expect to realize a very large sum for him. The unusual sight drew crowds to the beach from neighboring villages and the hotels and livery stables made preparations for a grand rush of visitors the next day.

FACTS WITH POINTS.

Every One of These Statements Absolutely True.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Gratitude prompts me to write that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets completely cured me of Nervous Dyspepsia from which I had suffered for the last four years. I had tried many remedies without results, but am now cured and have gained in flesh, sleep well and have no but words of praise for Stuart's Tablets."

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, Lynnville, Iowa: "It has been six months since I took Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and am fully cured. Have not had a particle of distress or difficulty since. This is in the face of the fact that I had suffered from stomach trouble for twenty-five years and was pronounced incurable by the doctors."

Jane Newstems, La Claire, Wis., says: "Two 50 cent packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets did me more good than any remedy had ever before tried. They hit the spot with me and I once more have an appetite and can eat what I please without fear of distress and bloating afterward."

Dr. Harlanson relates the case of Miss Helen Sholes of Nashville, who was cured of dyspepsia and gained 18 pounds in weight after suffering from stomach trouble for eight years. The doctor uses them in all stomach troubles because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain pure pepsin, Diastase, fruit acids and valuable digestives, which digest the food whether the stomach works or not, gives it the needed rest and a cure is the natural result.

Dr. Jennison says nine-tenths of disease is caused by indigestion and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest and best cure, because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain the valuable digestive principles needed by every weak stomach and a whole box would not hurt a child, being absolutely harmless.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

Send to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on symptoms and treatment of stomach troubles.

THE BLIND GIRL HAS FAITH

Thinks Her Sight Will Be Restored If She Believes.

"I believe there is a God and that by trying the faith cure I may be able to see again," said a little eight year old Dolly Homelstein of Brodhead, as she patiently waited for a train at the St. Paul depot yesterday. The little girl, who was in charge of an elderly lady, has been blind since birth. She has consulted numerous skilled occults but now believes that only faith can cure her, and she was going to Milwaukee to try it.

UNCLE SAM'S SALE.

Annual Disposal of the Accumulations of the Dead-Letter Office.

One of the queerest "institutions" of the national capital is the annual clearance sale of the dead-letter office, in which a vast accumulation of articles gone astray in the mails is sold to the highest bidders. The auction house where it is held is continually crowded with excited men, women and children and beside it the bargain counters during the holidays are as havens of rest, for when Uncle Sam goes into the junkshop business great things are expected. As in the church fair raffle you pay a small amount of money and trust to luck to get back more than its value. The articles, previously listed in a wholesale sort of a way, are tied up in bundles of from three to a half dozen and "auctioned" for what they will bring, the average bids ranging between 10 cents and $1. Nobody is permitted to examine the goods before purchasing and no money is refunded to the dissatisfied. Everybody hopes to pull a genuine plum from the pie in the shape of a diamond ring, a silk dress pattern or silver teapot and although comparative blanks are the rule there is always the possibility of a prize. For example, the auctioneer holds up one of these odd-shaped bundles, listed "pictures, underwear, music, cigars." Going—going—gone for 90 cents to a dapper young gentleman, who was caught by the word "cigar." He opens it on the spot—an unwise thing to do if one objects to good-natured ridicule—and this is what he finds: Six cigars broken into bits, with so strong an odor that one wonders how a sledge-hammer could have done it; underwear, pictures—a collection of newspaper cuts designed for amusement of some small child. The lot would be dear at a quarter and is of no use to the buyer. In the dead-letter office proper—that charnel house which swallows nearly 500,000 missives every month—it is positively harrowing. More than forty bushels of photographs have accumulated there awaiting the annual cremation. There are tresses of hair enough to stuff a dozen mattresses, grandmother's silver locks and babies' golden curls, many doubt cut from dead brows, and small sums of money which poor workmen send home to feed their wives and little ones and servant girls save from their scanty wages for needy parents—gone to Uncle Sam's rich purse, not because the United States wants it, but because the senders' writing or orthography was beyond mortal ken. It is hard to realize that in this land of states at the close of the nineteenth century there are so many people so ignorant or so careless as to send several millions of letters a year without stamps or addresses or with addresses which no man can make out. People seem to be so intent on what goes into the letters that they forget all about the superscription.

Death Masks.

Lawrence Hunter, the New York writer, has presented to Princeton University his collection of death masks, numbering sixty copies, and probably the largest collection of its sort in existence. Several of the masks are the only ones of the subject, among them masks of Dean Swift and Thackeray. The countenances are reproduced in these masks of Washington, Lincoln, Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, General Sherman, Aaron Burr; the actors David Garrick, Edmund Kean, Lawrence Barrett, John McCullough, Dion Boucicault, and Harry Edwards; Martin Luther Goethe, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Hayden; Mary Queen of Scots, Queen Elizabeth, Charles II., Frederick the Great, Frederick William IV., Napoleon, Napoleon III.; Mirabeau, Robespierre, Marat; Sir Thomas More, Oliver Cromwell, Robert Bruce; Burke, Scott, Newton, Sheridan, Keats, Coleridge, Laurence Sterne, Wordsworth, Burns. The collection will have a place in the university library now being built.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1671—John Law, famous speculative financier, born in Scotland; died 1729.

1689—Aphra, or Aphra, Behu, noted English dramatist and novelist, died in London; born about 1640.

1714—Eugene Beauharnais, marshal and viceroy (son of Empress Josephine), signed a convention with the Napoleonics in Italy, and the BEAUHARNAIS, Napoleonic wars were ended till the Waterloo campaign.

1802—France declared war against Mexico. A French army was already in Mexico when war was declared. It had landed with Spanish and English troops to demand reparation of losses and injuries inflicted upon foreign subjects, during the revolutions. Spain and England settled by negotiations and withdrew their armies. Hostilities began at once, and in July the French occupied the City of Mexico. A regency was set up, then an assembly of notables, and finally Maximilian of Austria was crowned emperor. Being engrossed with civil war, the United States could not protest against this violation of the Monroe doctrine.

1802—Day of destructive storms in the middle Atlantic coast states, especially Virginia, and also in England.

1894—General Oliver Lathrop Shepherd, U. S. A., retired, veteran of the civil war, died in New York city; born 1813.

Now that Persia has determined to send another minister to the United States, the wicked newspaper paragrapers should be careful not to drive him home by poking fun at his name, as they did seven or eight years ago, when the first Persian minister, Hajji Aasan Ghooly Khan, left us in disgrace.

If you should protest against some action your neighbor intended taking for the welfare of his own family you would not be more impudent than are those European governments which have protested against our making the Dingley tariff bill a law.

The abuse of the Dingley tariff bill by the democrats merely indicated their fear that the new tariff will make the country prosperous and thus complete the destruction of the democratic party.

Bicycle-Baggage Bill Passed.

Lansing, Mich., April 16.—Railroad bills will be considered in the house April 28, the special order having been postponed until that day. The house passed bills requiring that bicycles be carried as baggage and that bells be placed at all crossings deemed by the railroad commissioner as dangerous, the former being given immediate effect. The session bids fair to be unusually long, the senate having defeated a resolution providing for final adjournment on May 31.

Russia Looks for War.

Vienna, April 16.—It is said here on reliable authority that Emperor Nicholas declared that nothing now remains but to abandon Turkey and Greece to their fate and leave them to measure strength. His majesty is reported to have added emphatically that if Turkey now declared war it would be exclusively due to the provocation offered by Greece. Greece would also be regarded in Austrian official circles as the actual assailant.

Mexico Will Not Retaliate.

City of Mexico, April 16.—The reports published in the United States that the Mexican government intends, in case of the passage of the Dingley tariff bill, instituting retaliatory measures, are denied. Certain provisions of the bill will, if enacted into law, bring American capital here, and will redound to the benefit of the country.

Curfew Law for Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., April 16.—The Donovan bill providing for the ringing of the curfew bell in cities and villages as a signal for children under 15 years of age to seek their homes after 8 o'clock in the evening passed the senate Thursday, and will go to the governor for his signature.

Sharp Fighting in Crete.

Canea, Island of Crete, April 16.—Austrian torpedo boats were fired on Thursday by the insurgents near Kissamo while chasing Greek blockade runners. There has been sharp fighting around Canea between the Turks and the insurgents.

Madison, Wis., April 16.—A constitutional convention is impending for Wisconsin. At the meeting of the senate judiciary committee Thursday afternoon the subject was discussed, and it was practically decided to report a resolution calling for such a convention.

FROM THE CAMP

A Secret Hand Down by the Indians to Civilization that is the Cause of Thanksgiving to Many.

Their Knowledge of Health

Thousands To-day Who Have Availed Themselves of Their Medicines Praise the Instinct by Which They Learned Nature's Secrets.

Did you ever get up in the morning with a bad taste in the mouth, a furred tongue, dull pains in the head, sickness at the stomach, accompanied during the day by pains under the right shoulder blade, a difficulty in breathing, spots before the eyes, a dry cough, cold hands and feet and hundreds of other similar distressing symptoms? If so you can make up your mind that your liver is out of order, and as soon as you have made up your mind to this, the sooner you will make up your mind to get it in a healthy condition again, the better it will be for you. Nothing leads to such serious trouble as diseases of the liver, as shown by the above symptoms. Poisons which it is duty to discharge from the body remain in the system. They soon become hoarded up in the other vital organs. They hinder them from performing their functions, and destroy their usefulness. The blood becomes frightfully corrupt and it is but a short time before the sufferer is completely prostrated with an illness that is apt to keep him many weeks from his work, if indeed he succeeds in ever again getting well. We should advise all sufferers from such complications to resort to that great remedy that was known and used by the Indians, Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. For a disordered condition of the liver, as well as for all affections of the kidneys and stomach, and for purifying the blood, it is positively marvelous. The following letter, in this connection, will explain itself.

"Vernon Center, Minn., Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Gentlemen:—I have been a great sufferer from a disordered condition of my liver, which was accompanied with various stomach troubles. I experienced the most severe sick headaches. I at last took Kickapoo Indian Sagwa and it has cured me. I cannot say enough in its praise to all I meet. Yours respectfully, Carrie B. Newell."

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa will do for what it did for Mrs. Newell. It takes but a few days to show the good results that may be expected and in a short time, if persisted in, cures are always accomplished. This remedy can be bought of any druggist for $1 a bottle.

BLEW A SAFE OPEN AND STOLE GOODS

ROBBERS WORK AT COOKSVILLE LAST NIGHT.

Got But Seven Dollars From the Strong Box, But Carried Off Nearly a Wagon Load of Other Plunder—Local Officers Notified to Be On the Watch.

Burglars ransacked the principal general store in Cooksville some time during last night and blew open the safe and carried away nearly a wagon load of plunder.

The stolen goods embrace a large quantity of clothing, neckwear, hats, caps, boots, shoes and silverware.

After forcing the safe they were rewarded with but seven dollars in nickels and dimes.

At ten o'clock this morning Officer Appleby received a telephone message from Cooksville notifying him of the robbery. A good description of the stolen goods was given and the work would indicate that the job was done either by tramps or new hands at the business.

The robbery was not discovered until early this morning. All was confusion within the store. Goods were thrown right and left indicating that the thieves were in a hurry to accomplish their mission.

A close watch was kept of all incoming freight trains this morning but no suspicious characters were seen.

It is the opinion of the police that the parties who robbed the general store at Oregon a few days ago know something of last night's affair.

Think Stolen Horse Is Here.

Horse thieves who stole a rig in Milwaukee yesterday at noon are supposed to be in hiding in this vicinity. A telephone message to Officer Appleby this noon from Chief of Police Jaansen says that the rig has been traced to this county. The following description is given:

"Bay mare six years old, white star in forehead, snip on nose, sixteen hands high and weighs 1000 pounds. Black and spring top buggy, containing green colored wolf robe." Fifty dollars reward is offered.

MUSIC PASSED US ON WIRE

Beloit's Telephonic Concert Went Over Janesville Lines Last Night.

Over the long distance telephone wire that runs up Milwaukee street sweet strains of music were transmitted last evening from Milwaukee to Beloit. Linemen in this city "switched" the wires at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, giving Beloit direct communication with Milwaukee at 6 o'clock last evening, thus shutting this city off entirely. The music heard in the Line City was made by Cauder's and Bach's orchestras, the same organizations that will play for the citizens of Janesville on Saturday evening. T. J. Skolsky of the Wisconsin Telephone Company is now in the city making preparations for the local concert.

HAS COURTED DEATH.

TRIED SUICIDE IN MANY WAYS BUT STILL LIVES.

Methods of His Lethal Experiments—The Cause Was Unrequited Affection—But He Afterwards Married the Girl.

RANK H. CHEESMAN, living at 2227 Ohio street, South Berkeley, breaks the local record for suicidal effort, says the San Francisco Examiner. Eight times has he attempted to ferry the Styx and only his last call to the grim boatman seems likely to attract old Charon's sullen attention. Cheesman's persistence in seeking a ready exit from the stage of life is consistent with the varied methods of his lethal experiments. Some of his failures were unique, notably when he interrupted the circuit of a live electric wire and survived the deadly voltage of an alternating circuit of innumerable ohms. He has also swallowed poison and jumped from the promenade deck of a Southern Pacific ferryboat. Last Saturday he shot himself through the lungs, narrowly missing his heart, and the doctors diagnose his symptoms as fatal.

Cheesman's first attempt on his life was sensational. He threw himself from an upper-story window in this city, involving himself in two possibilities of successful suicide. He hoped in the first instance to perish on the wires of an electric light intercepting his descent to the pavement, which he imagined would mangle him sufficiently if the wire should break. It happened that the wire was tenacious and Cheesman was rescued.

His next adventure was a plunge from a ferryboat, reckoning on the chronic lethargy of the Southern Pacific to achieve his purpose. But Cheesman could not sink. It is the custom of the Southern Pacific officials to arrest people who jump from their ferryboats and turn them over to the police. This was the procedure on this occasion, but Cheesman, while on his way to the station, drew a knife from his pocket and stabbed himself three or four times in the neck. This time his lack of precision as an anatomist saved him.

After his wounds were dressed they locked Cheesman in a cell, and half an hour later he was found hanging by his suspenders to the grating in the ceiling.

When he recovered his breath sufficiently to explain Cheesman said he wanted to die because Effie Lambert would not marry him.

A few months later the old craving came upon him again and he poisoned himself in the basement of his parents' home in Lorin. Again the doctors interfered, this time with the pump, and Cheesman came up smiling once more out of the valley of the shadow.

But Cheesman was still unsatisfied. His desire for death may even be regarded as insatiate. A little while after the poisoning episode he climbed upon a windmill loftier than those at which his prototype of La Mancha tilted, and, probably imagining himself an airship or a thunderbird, leaped head foremost into space. Death at this time was inevitable, but a big dog passed opportunely and Cheesman landed safely on the animal's back.

The object of these evidences of an insane regard, thus emphatically importuned, concluded about this time that Cheesman was in deadly earnest and that he meant what he said when he averred that he would not live without her. Consequently, on Sept. 28, 1892, Frank H. Cheesman and Effie Lambert were married.

In books the romance of life usually ends at the altar, but in real life it is different, and the Cheesman tragedy was no exception to the rule of realism. He began a new series of tragic episodes by trying to shoot his wife. Failing to do so he knotted a handkerchief about his neck and in the presence of his wife tried to choke himself to death. Mrs. Cheesman summoned assistance and her husband made record of his seventh failure.

His wife then left him and Cheesman came to San Francisco, where he found a woman whose throat he tried to cut. He was arrested and sent to the Ukiah insane asylum. He was discharged six months later and shipped on a man-of-war, but deserted at San Diego and returned home.

He had lucid interval for seven months, during which he worked at the trade of house painter in Oakland. He was paid off last Saturday night and went to his home in South Berkley. He carried his suicidal tendency with him, and with a revolver for the eighth time, attempted his life. Dr. Rowell was called and located the bullet in Cheesman's lung. The doctor says the wound is serious.

Too Conscientious.
"The thing for you to do, madam," said the attorney, "is to bring suit against the woman for alienating your husband's affections. She has means, and you can, undoubtedly, recover heavy pecuniary damages from her."

"Would I have to put a money value on my husband's affections?" inquired the client.

"Certainly. And you need not fear to make the figure very large."

"I am not under oath, am I?"

"Not at all. This is merely a consultation."

"Well, then, you may sue the woman for—for—I guess you may make it as high as $75."—Chicago Tribune.

Food of the Eskimos of Alaska.
The Eskimos of Alaska have profited by their contact with civilized people, not only to obtain many of the utensils and appliances of life, and to preserve food and supplies for the long northern winters. The "Sportsman's Review" gives an interesting recital of their progress: "From time immemorial the Eskimos have taken eggs and fowls during the short season they were available. There is no system of canning eggs to determine their grade among the natives. An egg is an egg to them at any period of incubation, and so long as the season lasts they live in riotous plenty. Formerly they were contented with what they could eat during the season, but since they have come in contact with white people they have learned more thorough methods, and now they provide eggs and birds to last the whole year through. They dry or pickle the flesh and the eggs are preserved in barrels of muckaluk—walrus oil. An added goose egg kept a year in rancid oil appeals to an Eskimo's peculiarly cultivated taste. To an Eskimo an egg taken at any time in the season is eatable; but to be salable to the whites it must be fresh, and the Eskimos divide the territory among themselves, and make a systematic round of the nests each day, taking the fresh eggs, and finally pickling the mother when she refuses to lay any more, capturing her with a noose of wire. Now a part of the regular fare of the Yukon steamboat is wild goose. At the first meal the tourist is apt to regard the bird with great good favor, but as meal after meal passes wild goose ceases to be a joy. This continual depredation of the nests, combined with the Pacific coast market and record hunting, has already depleted the flocks of web-foot birds that one time were to be seen in myriads during the migrating season."

Arabian slaves and smoking pots
Of spiced meats and costliest fish
And all that the curious palate could wish.

Pass in and out of the cedar doors,
Scattered over mosaic floors
Are anemones, myrtles, violets,
And the mountain throws its jets
Of a hundred colors into the air.
The dusk sultana loosens her hair
And stains with a henna plant the tips
Of her pointed nails and bits her lips
Till they bloom again but, alas, that rose
Not for the sultan buds and blows,
Not for the Sultan Shah Zaman
When he goes to the city Ispahan!

Then, at a wave of her sunny hand,
The dancing girls of Samarkand
Glide in like ships from fairyland,
Making a sudden mist in air
Of fleecy clouds and flowing hair
And white arms lifted. Orient blood
Runs in their veins, shines in their eyes.
And there, in this eastern paradise,
Filled with the breath of sandalwood
And Khoten musk and aloes and myrrh,
Sits Rose-in-Bloom on a silk divan,
Sipping the wine of tristan,
And her Arab lover sits with her.
That's when the Sultan Shah Zaman
Has gone to the city Ispahan.

IN A PUNT.

One evening, when I had returned all alone and very weary, painfully pulling my heavy boat, which I used every night, I paused a few seconds to take breath near the edge of some reeds. The weather was glorious, the moon was radiant, the river sparkled, the air was cool and sweet. This tranquillity tempted me, and I thought it would be very pleasant to smoke my pipe in this place. The action followed the thought. I seized my anchor and cast it into the river. The punt, which floated with the current, drifted as far as the end of its chain, and then stood still. I seated myself in the stern on my sheepskin as comfortably as possible.

I heard nothing, not a sound, only at intervals I imagined I heard a slight, almost inaudible, plash of the water against the shore, and I saw clusters of tall reeds which assumed surprising shapes and seemed at intervals to stir. The river was perfectly quiet, but I felt agitated by the extraordinary stillness which surrounded me. All creatures—the frogs and toads, those nocturnal singers of the marshes—were silent. Suddenly at my right, close to me, a frog croaked. I shuddered. It ceased, and I heard nothing more and resolved to smoke to divert my mind. Yet, although I was a notorious and confirmed smoker, I could not smoke. With a second puff, I changed my mind and stopped.

I began to recite verses. The sound of my voice was painful. Then I stretched myself out in the bottom of the boat and watched the sky. For some time I remained at ease, but soon light movements of the boat disturbed me. It seemed as if it was making gigantic lurches, touching alternately the two banks of the river, then I thought that some being or invisible force drew it gently to the bottom of the water, then, raising it, let it fall once more. I was tossed about as though in the midst of a tempest. I heard sounds around me. I rose with a bound. The water was gleaming. All was quiet.

I saw that my nerves were somewhat shaken, and I determined to be off. I pulled at the chain, the punt began to move; then I felt a resistance. I pulled harder, but the anchor did not come. It had caught on something at the bottom of the river, and I could not lift it. I once more commenced to pull, but in vain. Then with my oars I turned the boat up stream in order to change the position of the anchor. This was useless; it still held fast. I was seized with anger and shook the chain furiously. Nothing moved. I sat down disengaged and began to reflect upon my position.

I could not think of breaking the chain or of separating it from the boat, for it was very heavy and riveted in the bow to a piece of wood thicker than my arm. But as the weather was still very fair, I thought that I should not remain long without encountering some fisherman who would come to my relief. My mishap had calmed me. I sat down, and at last was able to smoke my pipe. I had a bottle of rum. I drank two or three glasses and was compelled to laugh at my situation.

It was very warm, so that I could, if necessary, without great discomfort, pass the night in the beautiful starlight. Suddenly a soft rap sounded against the side of the boat. I started, and a cold sweat froze me from head to foot. This sound doubtless came from some piece of wood borne by the current, but it was enough, and I was again possessed by a strange nervous agitation. I grasped the chain and strained with a desperate effort. The anchor held firm. I sat down exhausted.

Meanwhile the river had gradually become covered by a very thick white mist which hung very low over the water, so that, standing, I could no longer see the river, or my feet, or the boat, but only the tops of the reeds, and in the distance the lowland, white in the moonlight, and from 5 great black spots, formed by clumps of Lombardy poplars, arose in the sky. I was wrapped to my waist as if in a muslin sheet of singular whiteness, and fantastic visions came to me.

I fancied that some one whom I could not distinguish was trying to climb into my boat, and that the river, hidden in this opaque mist, must be filled with these strange beings who swam around me. I felt a horrible disquietude; the beating of my heart almost choked me, and, losing control of myself, I thought of having myself by swimming, but immediately this idea made me shudder with fear. I could see myself lost, wandering at random in that thick fog, in the midst of the grasses and reeds from which I cold not free myself, quivering with fear, unable to see the shore or to find my boat, and I imagined I could feel myself drawn by my feet to the very bottom of this black water.

Indeed, as I should have been compelled to struggle against the current for at least 500 yards before reaching a point free from grass and rushes where I might gain a foothold, there were nine chances out of ten that I should not be able to find my way in this obscurity, and that I should be drowned, good swimmer as I was.

I tried to reason with myself. I determined not to be afraid, but there was something in me besides my will, and this other thing was afraid. I asked myself what there was to fear. My brave I jerked at my poltroon I, and never so well as on that day have I understood the conflict of the two beings that exist in us—the one willing, the other resisting, and each in turn prevailing.

This foolish and inexplicable fear continually increased till it became terror. I remained immovable, with wide open eyes and expectant ear. Of what? I knew not in the least, but of something terrible. I believe that if a fish had thought of springing out of water, as often happens, no more would have been needed to make me fall stiff and insensible.

Nevertheless, by a violent effort, I succeeded in gradually recovering my lost reason. I took again my bottle of rum and drank deep draughts. Then the idea occurred to me, and I began to shout with all my strength, turning successively to the four points of the horizon. When my throat was absolutely paralyzed, I heard a dog barking in the distance.

I drank again and stretched myself at full length on the bottom of the boat. I remained thus for perhaps an hour, perhaps two, without sleeping, with eyes wide open, and with terrors around me. I dared not rise, yet I wished intensely to do so. I put it off from minute to minute. I said to myself, "Come, stand up," and I was afraid to make a movement. At last I raised myself with infinite precautions, as if my life depended on the slightest sound I might make, and looked over the side of the boat.

I was dazzled by the most marvelous, the most astonishing sight that could possibly be seen. It was one of those phantasmas of fairyland, one of those visions related by voyagers who return from afar, and which we hear without believing.

The mist, which for two hours before was floating on the river, had gradually receded and gathered on the river banks. Leaving the stream entirely clear, it had formed on each shore an unbroken bank six or seven yards in height, which gleamed beneath the moon with the superb brilliancy of snow. Thus, not a thing was visible save the river flashing with fiery lights. Between those two white hills of mist, and high overhead hung full and large a majestic, luminous moon in the midst of a black sky dotted with stars.

All the creatures of the water were awake. The frogs were croaking furiously, while at intervals, now at the right, now at the left, I heard the short, monotonous, melancholy note which the ringing voices of the toads uttered to the stars. Strangely I was no longer afraid. I was surrounded by a scene so extraordinary that the most striking singularities had no power to astonish me.

How long this lasted I know not, for I had ended by falling asleep. When I opened my eyes, the moon had set, the sky was covered with clouds, the water rippled mournfully, the wind was blowing, it was cold, and the darkness was profound.

I drank what remained of my rum, then I listened, shivering with cold, to the rustling of the reeds and the sinister sound of the river. I tried to see, but I could not distinguish the boat nor even my hands, which I held before my eyes.

Gradually, however, the thick darkness diminished. Suddenly I seemed to feel a shadow gliding very near me. I uttered a cry and a voice answered. It was a fisherman. I called to him. He drew near, and I told him of my misfortune. He then pulled his boat alongside mine, and we both strained at the chain. The anchor did not move. Day dawned, somber, gray, rainy, cold—one of those days which bring one gloom and misfortune.

I perceived another boat. We hailed it. The man who rowed it united his efforts with ours. Then, little by little, the anchor yielded. It came up but slowly and burdened with a considerable weight. At length we saw a dark mass, and we drew it into my boat.

Homes Under the Ground.

In the salt district in Cheshire, England, the brine has been pumped so continuously out of the earth that the land has settled very considerably. The houses naturally sink with the earth, and in some of the streets in Northwich only the roofs are visible. The houses are inhabited, although the rooms are underground. In a great many cases additional stories have been added, so that by living in the upper rooms the residents may have some light and air. The roadways sink, too, but are kept up to the proper level by the government.

SHOT COOLS AS IT FALLS.

The erroneous idea is held by some that lead shot are made spherical by falling from a height. The only purpose of lofty shot towers is to give the shot a chance to cool and harden as they tumble. They are just as perfect spheres when they start from the top as when they reach the well of water 200 feet or so below. The usefulness of the water is merely as a soft cushion to receive them. Shot cannot be formed from pure lead, but an admixture of arsenic causes the lead to form globules, like mercury. The molten mixture is placed in an iron saucepan with perforated bottom and the drops falling through are the shot. They must fall some distance in order to get time to cool and harden. When a batch is thus made they are scooped out of the water, tumbled about in a revolving barrel with plumbago and finally put through a series of sieves to sort them into sizes for the market.—Mining and Scientific Press.

A Bulky Book.

Of "biggest books in the world" there is no end, but it is believed that the blank book of greatest weight, size and bulk belongs to an eccentric physician of Baltimore, one Dr. Fahrney. It was made in Chicago in 1891. It weighs exactly 280 pounds and seven ounces, and has leaves made of the very best rope manilla. The cover of this giant of books weighs 50 pounds, and is provided with two complicated padlocks. The book cost the doctor $65.

Americans are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one-third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. W. Vaughn, of Oakton Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and find it to be the best medicine I ever used for cramps in the stomach and bowels." Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry street Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pan Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her.
